

Report of Special Investigating Committee

We the Special Investigating Committee find that some of our members have been attending dancing parties. Some went and did not know that dancing was to be there and some thought that it was not prohibited.

We can bring no charge against any of our members for misconduct going home from the meetings. We also find that certain members have been speaking lightly of our Association to those to whom they found it agreeable, in a manner also which we consider inconsistent with true membership.

James Brewster